Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

The American thirst for news is never quenched. Especially is this true of the service-man away from home. He wants news of his own activities, as well as information on events that affect his loved ones at home.

Since its revival in April 1942, the European Edition of STAMES AND STRIPES has well fulfilled this need. In my 12th Army Group in Europe your newspaper was a real morale factor, always sought after and read daily by all ranks.

In this present period of tension STAMES AND STRIPES has again accepted the responsibility of bringing news, information and recreation to our increasing Armed Forces. I am sure that your Editors and Staff will seet this responsibility with factual reporting and editorial lendership.

bailing Will they hold?

That's the question you been a themand times a day in Omaha and Council Bluffs, lows, where the homes of some $28,900 amnd vacant but still safe behind levees and flood walls holding back Miscouri Bliver yealer in a test such as they never were designed to get.

There's no braiting

There's no hysitria.

Dut the drems of this mighty bettle against nature's wrath has gripped the communities in a kind of mass excitoment rarely witnessed here or anywhere.

Schooly Closed

In Council Bluffs, the fleed threat rules the city. Schools are closed. All necessarial businesses are closed. Three-fourths of the city 45,000 is a ghost town and its dis-placed persons jum the other ene-fourth, high enough to be out of darger.

If you aren't a resident of the flood area, you have "DP" house guests, or you've working on the levees, or driving a truck, or doing pairal work, or one of the other countless jobs created by the emergener.

For home towners, a drive through the shandened area leaves a sort of depression akin to that from saying a final goodby to a long-time friend-

"Can't Stand It' "I can't stand it any more," said a working girl who lives in a nen-firestened Council Bluffs area but who works in Grasha. "It makes me sick every time I go through H. I'm moving to Omaha and I'm not going back until H's over."

Virtually all radio stations in the two cities have gone on a 28-hour basis, broadcasting flood news, builetins, appeals for voluntsors, ap-peals for trucks and equipment, and efficial announcements.

The Omaha World-Herald has undertaken a flood relief fundraising campaign. The Council Bluffs Nonparell has used front-page editorials to appeal for volun-teer help. Manpower has been the critical immediate need.

The impact in Omaha isn't quite to awful because a lesser area and fewer persons are directly threat-ened, although industrial damage would be higher in Omaho.

But it's hard to find an Omahan, oo, whose life hasn't been touched by the crisis.

Byrnes Article Takes Issue With Truman

WASHINGTON, April 17 (INS)-Ex-Secretary of State James E. Byrnes today accused President Truman of attempting to "substi-bute fittlen for history" in the now famous 1946 memo on the Moscow conference.

The former Cabinet member, Senator, Supreme Court Justice, and war mabilization chief, bitterly assailed the President in a long and searching article written for Col-lier's magazine.

Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, also contended that the Chief Rescutive had led a "dan-gorous move traured a socialized existence for all Americans."

existence for all Americans."

Disputes Truman

The Byrnes acticle was written primarily to dispute a statement made in the Truman biography. "Mr Freedent" Mr. Truman said that on Jan. 5, 1803, he pend to Byrnes a mean according the then Secretary of State of keeping him in the dark" about the 1805 foreign ministers' conference in Moscowe.

The book quotes Mr. Truman as 'I wrote this memo and read it "I wrote this memo and read it to my Secretary of State, So urgent uses its contents I neither had it typed nor melical but preferred to read it in order to give emphasis to the points I wanted to make," "Absolutely Unique" Byrnes charged, in effect, that the Providers lied.

Provident lied.

The governor wrote:

"I dony that it was either read to me or sent to me . . The state-ment made by the President that he read the memorandum letter to me is absolutely unless . . . "

Simultaneously with the release of this article Byrnes made public photocopies of letters written to him by President Truman and said they peace his charge that the Chief Executive has altempted to faisify history.

Of the composition, printing and distribution of the paper, something has already been said, but enough cannot be said of the cappendion offered THE STARS AND STRIPES by The Daily Mari, Le Journal, and Hochstie & Cle, the great French newspaper distributing firm, which get our young weekly on to every newstand in France to serve those Yanks who were within reach of newsatands. Ner should resettion be omitted of the effects made by the Seciete Anaryme dee Papeter. the Societe Anonyme des Papets ries Darblay to supply THE STARS AND STRIPES insatiable appetite for white paper.

Foreman Courageous

Foreman Courageous At the Mail the poper has had two foremen, with when its compositors and make-up editors have worked so long and argued so stremmonally that they counsider them as fellow Yanks—that is, until they open their mouths. Mr. John ft. Hencerlin, the genial Cornishman, took the infant journal on from the start until September, 1918. Then Mr. Jacob Faithfull, he of the Cromwellian Gard mest appropriately name, former teepful in the Second Lumnon Hilfes, took over, remaining up to the last week in May. It was he who taught at least two messal New England edileast two mesal New England edi-tors to talk Cockney, without going so far as to leave H's out of eadlines.

In conclusion, as THE STARS AND STRIPES is builed down AND STRIPES is hashed down two years to a day from the date on which General Pershing with the advance guard of the A. E.F. landed in France, and on the day before Ping Day, the staff of the paper wishon to expense its appreciation of the generous policy of mon-injectorous, of non-discover of mon-injectorous, of non-disof non-interference, of no tation, which the General Staff, A. E.F., has held to from the start in its dealings with us. It leaned us about 25,000 francs to start on—all long since paid back—and then let im severely slone. Only one request, which was couched as a request and not as an order, ever came to us, in 16 1/2 mouths, from the High Cemmand. That was when the C-in-C adopted two little French war waifs under our orphun department's plan.

Adoptions by Pershing Adoptions by Pershing Being American newspaper mea, we noturally got all set to becot the cause by heralding the adoption for and wide. But a brief, yet polite, memorandure, signed "J.J. P." saked us not to play it up—asked, and not ordered. And so the best story in that week's paper went in, along with Cook Bratith's and Private Jones' adoptions, as simply:

It is in working under Army consorphip of all communications going out of the war theater that correspondents find the most striking - and disturbing - differences between the wars.

Vague Censership

Yague Generality
This which consentable is much more vague in detail of application, but there not the chief factor which perturbs war reporters trying to tell the straight story of

If this writer's apinion were alone, it probably could be changed to bins. But almost without exception correspondents and veteran saldiers alike who've seen both Stripes at the last war and the Pacific version feel there is no similarity between the pagets except the name.

The Pacific version corries stories about the deings of influential colombot the country of the pagets whose the country of the pagets.

Expecters Praised

This is a bitter situation because the paper's frontline convexpondents by and large do a magnificent job of severing action with the treeps, and the braze-managed paper's isostowing is not their fault.

As for personnel receivers to this

Kowtowing is not their fault.

As for personal reactions to this war as opposed to the last, as Korcon pidgin English has it: samer-some. Bailder, slower and like Stripes it years older, Unite Bud fireds that as civilian correspondent for Time-Life he is scared in this war to exactly the same degree as he was as a GI correspondent in the last war.

That wared a wallity is a let

That scared quality in a jet tuainer over MIG Alley one day last week was exactly the same as in a bember over Bressen last time, and that's plenty.

But Bullets Still Speak

The frost, page of the Pacific edition of The Starz and Stripes tells the stary of the truce talks, while the bullet-punctured believe shows that a builet can still kill.
