This school year has proved its unique challenges, from going back and forth between virtual classes and then returning to school carrying barriers to each class. While the adjustment was unusual, we collectively agreed that there are no barriers to what we can accomplish in life. And, when we walk these halls one last time, we will be able to say we finally conquered the last two years of high school during a pandemic.

We made it!

After four long years of late nights and early mornings, we’ve reached the well-deserved, bittersweet ending to our high school careers. It feels like just yesterday we took our “Last First Day of School” photos. We walked into Daegu Middle High School ready to begin the end of one chapter of our book called Life.

This school year has proved its unique challenges, from going back and forth between virtual classes and then returning to school carrying barriers to each class. While the adjustment was unusual, we collectively agreed that there are no barriers to what we can accomplish in life. And, when we walk these halls one last time, we will be able to say we finally conquered the last two years of high school during a pandemic.

After we graduate, there will be unimaginable opportunities and countless stories that living overseas have provided us with, especially after a year of living in the world of COVID-19 in South Korea, where we were the first DODEA school to close down. We have been bestowed the opportunity of living abroad, and I hope that is something we can use as a guiding light through higher education, jobs, the U.S. military and onto the next phase of life.

From here, we all go our separate ways and follow our own unique paths. While the fear of the unknown haunts us, this next chapter is written by none other than us. I do know that each one of us has the potential to pursue passions beyond our belief and light a fire in this world to inspire others to do the same.

Graduation is both a successful ending and an exciting beginning. You can celebrate for all the lessons learned, adventures conquered, and special moments shared. This beginning-- is a time for looking forward, a time for setting new goals, a time for dreaming new dreams, and a time for discovering yourself and seeing what lies beyond highschool.

On behalf of the Senior Class of 2021, I would like to thank our parents, family, friends, teachers, counselors, mentors, and coaches; this graduation is just as much yours as it is ours. You have indebted your lives to our lives and prepared us with life lessons to conquer the road ahead of us. You have taught us that we will all make mistakes but what matters the most is how you will overcome them; you have taught us there is no obstacle too great and no challenge too difficult. You have loved us unconditionally and taught us we are capable of anything we set our minds to. You have been our biggest supporters and no words could ever express our gratitude. On behalf of the class, we want to send a huge thank you to Colonel Manning, Commander, 403rd Army Field Support Brigade and his wonderful wife Mrs. Erica Manning, for going out their way to make sure our flags were done this year. This amazing gift from the heart to ensure the senior class had the necessary support to finish this year strong will be embedded in our minds forever. We would also like to give a heartfelt thank you to our Senior Class Sponsor, Mrs. Francine Imrie. Mrs. Imrie, your dedication, kindness, and unwavering support has been a pediment to our success. On days we were all down, you always made it a point to reach out and send an inspiring quote. You have motivated us and shown us what it’s like to be successful, and words will never be enough to show how grateful we were to have you as our class sponsor!

Seniors, a farewell is never the end, what feels like a bittersweet ending is the new beginning. A new beginning into the story we will be able to tell for centuries after we graduate. My hope is that we carry these multicultural and international experiences we have been surrounded by/experienced, to continue to make long lasting memories just like we did at Daegu Middle High School.

Amazing people!

On behalf of the Osan Middle High School Class of 2021, I would like to say thank you to some special people, especially in the midst of this global pandemic.

This year has been anything but normal, constantly going back and forth between remote learning and face-to-face learning, causing plenty of craziness. What really kept us grounded throughout this school year were all the parents who fought so hard to make our senior year special. They fought for sports that we thought we would never play again. Our parents fought for in-person school when no one else would, and our parents were willing to take the risk before the vaccine was even out to continue to provide us with an education that will last us a lifetime.

In thinking about what our school year would have been like without the faculty, we want to thank our administrators: Dr. Bradley and Mr. Romero. Thank you for bringing us back to brick and mortar school. Thank you for helping us play fall, winter, and spring sports, even as you recruited students to join so we would have enough players. Thank you for our covid friendly environment as we felt safe and welcome here at school. Thank you, teachers, for coaching our sports, for providing us still with unique collaborative learning experiences, and for showing your faces on the remote learning screens, even when we would not. Thank you for your patience and flexibility with teaching us from home or in the classroom. Truly, we did not mind when your children distracted you and us...think of it as reality TV.

We also would like to thank our senior class advisors, Ms. Heffele and Mrs. Howell. Without you, we would not have been able to enjoy our last year of high school. Thank you for your patience and flexibility in meetings, and trying to get plans and activities together so that we could make great memories, and experience being an actual senior year. Thank you for expanding our experiences and opportunities, and allowing us to grow and mature as individuals for our upcoming adventures in life. You both have been very helpful, and we thank you for aiding us in our next chapters into adulthood. We wish you all the best.

Thank you to Mrs. Kaweck for making our graduation photo shawls and providing a sleek tie for the gents to wear with the school jackets. Thank you to Mr. Paul for stepping up as junior advisor so we can have a prom. May 22 will be a night to remember, even if we still have to meet mitigation measures.

If we didn't have these amazing people in our lives pushing for a somewhat normal school year many of these events would have fallen to the wayside. As high schoolers, we have all always dreamed about our senior year, playing sports, being able to rule the school, enjoy prom, and the list goes on and on. But, as our junior year ended and the new school year started with remote learning, we began to lose hope of any chance to do any of the typical special high school senior moments. We worried our senior year would be defined by Google Meet classes and little-to-no social interaction. However, we were completely wrong; even though we weren't completely back to normal you, the administration, staff, and parents, did everything in your ability to make it special, to make it more than just a year sitting behind a computer screen. Without your continued support and tireless effort, this school year would have been nowhere near as special as you all made it for the seniors and I. So on behalf of the senior class, Thank you!

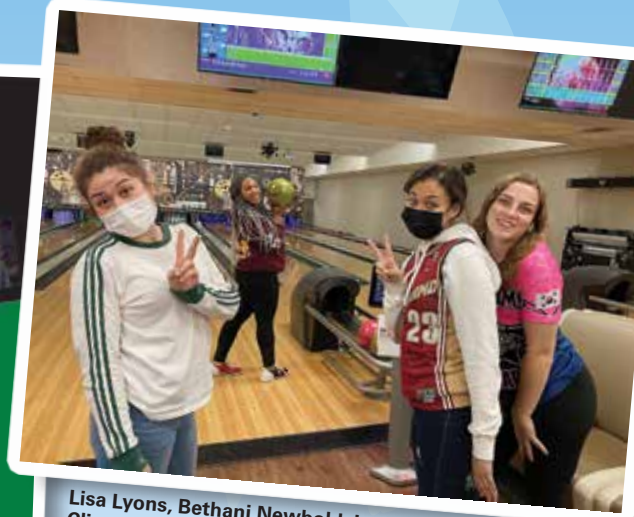

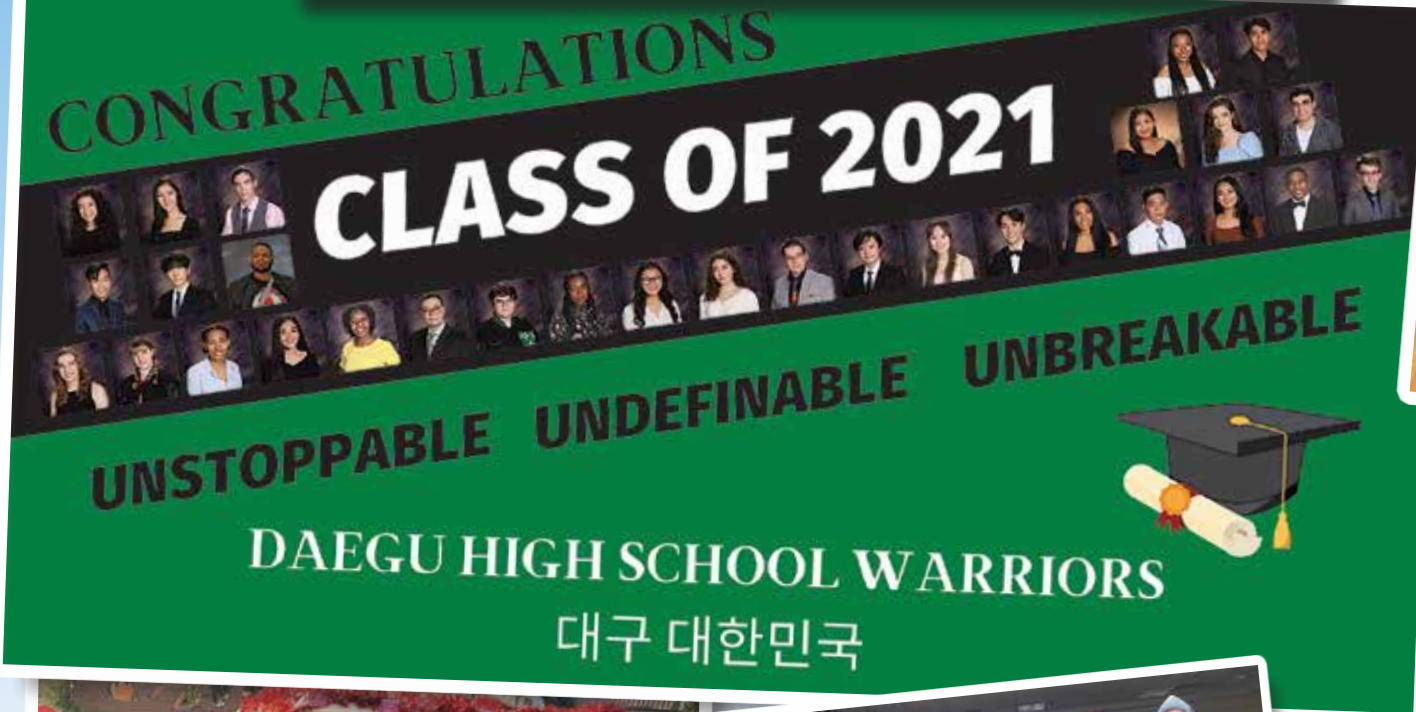

Sincerely,

Jack David Pleus,
Osan Middle High School Class of 2021 President

Infinite support!

On behalf of Humphreys High School’s Class of 2021, I would like to extend my gratitude for everyone who has supported each and every one of us throughout such an atypical school year. We could not have adjusted to our ever-changing environment without your guidance.

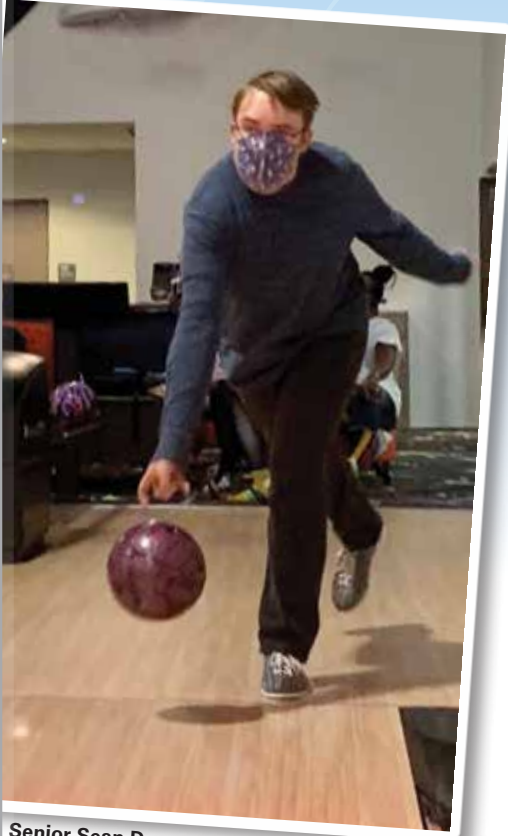

To our parents, thank you for being our number one supporters since the very beginning. You have been by our side for the past eighteen years, continuously guiding us on the right path. As we prepare to start the next chapter of our lives, we remember the endless love and support you have showered upon us throughout our entire lives. Your support for our dreams and aspirations have instilled confidence within us and have inspired us to challenge ourselves in everything we do. As a part of the military community, many of us have moved numerous times growing up. With every move, you have helped us become accustomed to new cultures, curriculums, and classmates all while dealing with the other work that PCSing brings. Throughout our entire lives, you have shown us how to be grateful, diligent, and selfless, and you have more than prepared us to be successful wherever we go in the future. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

To our teachers and staff, you have extended nothing but your support to us over the years. Your teaching and guidance have not only prepared us for our future endeavors, but have also encouraged us to be the best version of ourselves possible. You have taught us how to be better thinkers, listeners, and leaders. Your teaching has allowed us to challenge ourselves every day both in and out of the classroom. The transition between virtual and in-person learning would have been extremely difficult without you and your never-ending support. Thank you for lending us your ear when we needed someone to talk to as well. For many students, you are who we turn to for help for not only academic reasons, but personal reasons as well. Thank you so much for dedicating your time and energy into helping us succeed both academically and personally. We truly could not have gotten through our high school years without you.

To say that this past school year was “unprecedented,” while true, would be an understatement. We’ve transitioned between virtual and in-person learning not once, not twice, but three times. Google Meets became routine, and pep rallies, dances, assemblies, and other school-wide events were no longer a given. As we became accustomed to the endless squirts of hand sanitizer and the sound of barriers falling off of desks, we have learned to adapt to the world around us. Be it 3 A.M. AP exams or simply grabbing a mask before leaving our homes, we have truly learned how to adjust to an altered way of life. Seniors, I am confident that we will continue to flourish wherever we go. No matter what obstacles come our way, we will not be deterred, but instead continue to push towards our goals.

Thank you once again to everyone who has supported us throughout our high school years. As we take on the next chapter of our lives, we will continue to be assiduous in all our endeavors. We will incorporate the values you have instilled within us into our daily lives, and we hope that your teachings will be able to reach more people through us. Thank you for your unconditional love and infinite support.
