A salute to Gen. James Alward Van Fleet and son

The sacrifices of Gen. Van Fleet and his son

U-MEDI

In the late evening of April 4, 1952, news was delivered to U.S. Army Gen. James Alward Van Fleet, commander of the U.S. Eighth Army and United Nations forces in Korea, that his only son, U.S. Air Force Capt. James Alward Van Fleet Jr., went missing with his crew during a B-26 bombing mission in Korea. Gen. Van Fleet called off the official search for his son and crew because he felt it could cost more lives to save his son behind enemy lines. Capt. Van Fleet Jr. was officially put on the MIA/KIA list on April 5, 1952.

Before the fatal bombing mission, Capt. Van Fleet Jr. held a Korean-style 60th birthday party for his father on March 19, 1952. The black and white photos taken during the party are the last pictures of the two together.

Gen. Van Fleet's only son did not have to participate in the Korean War, but the bomber pilot volunteered to help in the war effort. A letter written to his mother during the war still inspires many people today. "Dear Mom, I hope this letter will not be wet with your tears. My father is fighting for the rights of human beings to live without fear. It is only natural that I have joined him in this fight," Capt. Van Fleet wrote. "Please pray not for me, but for my crew in the B-26 bomber. They have young wives or girlfriends anxiously waiting for their safe return."

Many don't remember, but like Capt. Van Fleet Jr., a total of 142 soldiers whose fathers were active generals participated in the Korean War. Thirty-five were killed or injured during the war. The son of Gen. Walton Harris Walker, another hero of the Korean War, and the son of U.S. President Eisenhower also served in the Korean War.

Even after his son's death, Gen. Van Fleet devoted himself to the reconstruction of the Korean Armed Forces. After being discharged from the military service, he also made such a great achievement for the true friendship between Korea and the United States. In 1957, Van Fleet helped establish in New York, The Korea Society, a nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting friendly relations between U.S. and Korea "through mutual understanding and appreciation of their respective cultures, aims, ideals, arts, sciences and industries."

In a speech to the U.S. Congress, the Republic of Korea's first president, Syngman Rhee, praised the general, saying, "General Van Fleet is the father of the Korean military." Van Fleet's expression "Let's go together" is still today used as a symbol of friendship between U.S. and Korean forces.

The Republic of Korea remains the only country in the world to be in a state of truce, and many U.S. military members are dedicated to maintaining peace on the peninsula.

Although the Korean government has been engaged in various activities over the years to grow the friendship with the U.S. military, there have been not many opportunities to properly express gratitude for the U.S. military's dedication at the private level.

Along with some volunteers, the Korean Health News and U-MEDI are trying to remember the sacrifices of General Van Fleet and his son, as well as others who have served unselfishly and devoted their lives to better the world they lived. We believe discovering and sharing heroic stories of U.S. soldiers in Korea will promote closer friendship between the U.S. and South Korea.

Korean Health News and U-MEDI plan to continue to remember our heroes, with hopes of creating a website that chronicles their legacy.

'We Are All Van Fleet'

CAMPAIGN PARTNERS LOOK TO GROW U.S. - KOREA RELATIONSHIP

Crystal Zone (크리스탈존)

Established in 2011, Crystal Zone specializes in 3D picture framing. Crystal Zone was requested to handle the "We Are All Van Fleet" campaign, of which, they are honored to participate in.

In particular, the disappearance of Captain Van Fleet Jr., an American citizen who was also granted Korean citizenship.

It was a fact that they had no idea about. As it is a very touching story, Crystal Zone felt compelled to do their best to work on frames related to the campaigns.

Their globally-renowned frames are manufactured with specialized 3d technology by using an "optical illusion effect."

Special mood lights are attached under the pictures to create various looks. Although they are primarily focused on the Korean market, at the request of USFK soldiers, Crystal Zone has agreed to design a special product.

If you have any questions about Crystal Zone and their services, feel free to contact 34469442@crystalzone.co.kr or call 82+2-3446-9442.

Anyone F&C (애니원에프앤씨)

Anyone F&C was launched as a professional distribution group that spreads food culture.

We possess a range of food culture brands, and also have our own distribution platform at home and abroad.

Based on our corporate goal of forming a healthy and happy lifestyle culture, we aim to grow into a happy lifestyle partner that creates positive cultural performances.

We'd like to thank you for participating in the We Are All Van Fleet campaign. Our participation has contributed to world peace beyond the friendship between the Korean and American forces. Without the dedication of the US and UN forces in the Korean War, we are well aware that we would not be here.

A long history has been newly illuminated, and many new iterations of Van Fleet are continuing to preserve the ethos and spirit of the man.

We sincerely hope that this will be an opportunity for younger generations to look into and understand the deeper meaning of goodwill and respect for others.

Shambhala CC (삼발라 cc)

Shambhala CC is an 18-hole golf course that was established in Pocheon, Gyeonggi-do in 2020. The geographical features of Pocheon, which boast of natural scenery and mountains, are designed in meticulous detail.

We strived to make the best course in Korea in consideration of time and space. It takes about 50 minutes to reach Shambhala CC from Gangnam, Seoul, and many golfers love it.

At the request of Director Jang Jin Seok of Medicare, to participate in the "We Are All Van Fleet" campaign... Director Jang and I would like to express our gratitude to all the dedicated citizens and officials in Korea.

In particular, Pocheon is known to have seen many battles during the Korean War. Eventually, the battlefield grew into a beautiful and precious setting, making it a gorgeous place to visit for all.

In memory of General Van Fleet's achievements and the spirit of his son Captain Van Fleet Jr., the purpose of the campaign is to continue to spread goodwill to more people in the future.

SSNC (에스에스앤씨)

SSSNC was established in 2018 and is a part of a range of companies such as large corporations, financial sectors, and manufacturing industries.

As an information protection company, it introduces optimized products for the business environment and increases efficiency, as well as security integrated payment management and firewall policy management to protect a company's valuable assets, security integrated payment management. With their outstanding aptitude, they continue to grow every year. In the early days of the Korean War, SSNC inspected a lot of data and secured information. Although we struggled at first, under General Van Fleet's leadership, we were able to make a difference only thanks to numerous U.S. soldiers' sacrifices.

I want to cherish this freedom that would not have been realized without these efforts. While watching the war between Russia and Ukraine,

I also hope for peace in that distant land.

We will strive to become a company that helps uphold the peace. We are all Van Fleet. Spreading the utmost in goodwill and respect for others.

It's the true power to overcome cutting-edge weapons. Going forward, we will continue to strongly support this campaign.

Daewon Group (대원그룹)

Daewon Group was founded in 1972 by Hyundai Mining. We have been carrying out various projects such as ready-mixed concrete, development, and construction equipment.

Currently, we are focusing on infrastructure development, fuel cell power generation, and construction material development, including the Big Island project, a port redevelopment project that is transforming the future in Geoje.

Based on extensive corporate experience, we provide a total service optimized for energy and infrastructure construction. We feel that Daewon Group has been steadily and diligently playing a role in the fundamental development of the overall Korean industry.

Through this 'We Are All Van Fleet' campaign, we pay tribute to the sacrifices made by those who helped make Korea into what it is today. We, too, are primarily engaged in the business of laying the groundwork behind the scenes.

We've come to realize the simple truth that there is no great success without hidden sacrifices. Now, business endeavors are active all over the country.

In the end, I think that the sacrifices of those in the background, including Captain Van Fleet Jr., became the true spark that the country needed.

In particular, we deeply mourn the noble hearts of those who sacrificed themselves to protect freedom in a distant foreign land. We will also slowly but surely contribute to this campaign to help promote the healthy development of both Korea and the United States.

Mammoth Coffee Lab (매머드 커피)

Mammoth Coffee Lab was opened up in December 2012 by three acquaintances who shared a vision. Ten years later, Mammoth Coffee has grown to over 150 stores and Mammoth Express, a small take-out specialty store, has surpassed 200 branches. Our growth has been rooted into the vision of delivering the best ingredients and the best taste with the sincerity that even a cup of Americano coffee worth less than 1,000 won can be given to consumers in the most luxurious way.

We are thankful for the We Are All Van Fleet campaign jointly organized by the Korean Health News and U-MEDI.

I participated with all my heart. Van Fleet and his son showed devotion, goodwill and respect for others, true leadership that puts public interest ahead of private interest. Because of this, we are able to reflect on the countless forgotten heroes left behind in the Korean War. Ultimately, we should never forget all that we owe them.

Although the sacrifices of those who sacrificed their lives in the struggle for peace in distant foreign lands can be easily overlooked by future generations, I hope that in a few years, such a voluntary campaign will become an iconic and memorable effort underscoring the friendship between Korea and the United States, in the same way as we see the small but promising beginning of our Mammoth Coffee Lab.

Thank you for all your volunteer work. If you watch US military-related broadcasts, we will keep in mind the feedback of Americans and try to help this campaign flourish, starting with Mammoth Coffee Lab.

Bruster's Ice Cream (부르스터스 아이스크림)

Bruster's Ice Cream started in the United States, and South Korea is still its first and only overseas market outside the United States.

The Korean military and their families are also unaware that they can taste Bruster's Ice Cream in Korea. Yet, it's just the beginning in Korea.

We fully support the We Are All Van Fleet campaign. There is no future for a nation that does not remember the past. I love Bruster's Ice Cream so much that I really wanted to introduce its taste to Koreans. The founder of Bruster's Ice Cream recognized our passion and effort, allowing us to take it out of the United States for the first time ever.

A heart that recognizes the sincerity of bold efforts, reflecting on the past and present of Korea and the United States. The lesson of Captain Van Fleet Jr.'s disappearance is clear and simple.

I would like to express my gratitude in that participation is what truly matters, that it is the current peace held together by blood and sweat, and that numerous USFK troops are still committed to this land and upholding the peace.

Just as Bruster's Ice Cream has been loved by many people in the United States, we will endeavor to produce ice cream that many people will love in Korea. Lets move forward together!

Lastly, we will do our best to ensure that this campaign is properly established here.

Sojunghan Medicare Center (소중한 메디케어)

Sojunghan Medical Center is growing into Korea's leading specialized hospital for health examinations. We have been regularly publishing the Korean Health News and are currently serving as publishers. This time, the Korea Health News and U-MEDI mustered up their will and are truly honored to plan We Are All Van Fleet campaign.

We are very grateful that so many people and companies are voluntarily wishing to participate.

Through this project, we'll be posting information on korea.stripes.com to give better insight into the unique relationship between Korea and the United States.

I sincerely look forward to it growing into a flourishing section that can help promote our friendship.

While watching the war in Ukraine, I am further realizing how important the leadership's esteem is and how it is rooted in the Van Fleet ethos.

We would like to always thank not only the senior U.S. military but also the current U.S. Forces in Korea. In the future, we will work harder and make efforts to help this campaign grow into an iconic effort symbolizing the friendship between Korea and the U.S. military.

Gasas Digital Complex more than just a health center

U-MEDI

Nestled between Incheon and Seoul, you can find Gasas Digital Complex, a booming urban landscape that is blending venture and R&D companies with one of Seoul's newest fashion meccas.

At the heart of all this activity is Sojunghan Health Promotion Center, known for its state-of-the-art medical examination system where both Koreans and expats can receive comprehensive consultations and full-body checkups, which can even include MRI, CT scans, endoscopy/colonoscopy and ultrasounds if necessary! The specializations don't stop there, however, as they also have an on-site dental clinic skin-care clinic and can even offer specialized examinations geared to cancer screening, spinal diseases, diabetes, thyroid, cardiovascular and even issues related to adolescent health and stress levels!

As the health examinations at Sojunghan can vary according to need, you can often expect to spend anywhere from 2-4 hours going over everything. With that in mind, we recommend scheduling a morning or afternoon in the Gasas Digital area, and to make it worth your while, we've also picked out some great places to visit before or after your examination.

CHANG JIN SEOK, CEO

Getting here

First, let's talk about getting to the area. Gasas Digital Complex Subway Station is on Seoul Subway Lines 1 and 7 and if coming directly out of Exit 3, you'll eventually find Daeryung Post Tower on the right side with Sojunghan located on the 3rd floor. But as we want to make sure you get there safely without any hassle, we strongly advise for you to contact us at U-MEDI before you go so we can guide you better and help plan your Gasas itinerary.

Cafe visit

Whether you opt to go for coffee before or after your exam, if you are a cafe buff you'll love the relaxing space of Inc Coffee (127-20, Gasas Digital 2-ro, Geumcheon-gu, Seoul) and its rooftop space and indoor courtyard. Drinks include African drip coffee, lattes, cold brews and even affogatos. For non-coffee drinks, they also feature lemonade, tea lattes and chamomile variations.

Baked goods and ice cream can also be ordered. Inc Coffee can be found if coming out of Exit 6 of the area's subway station, making a sharp left to walk alongside the subway line and heading towards the river. You'll eventually see the entrance on the right.

Korean Lunch/Dinner visit

One of our fave places to eat in the area for Korean food is Sillim Chuncheon House (신림춘천집, 17-23, Digital-ro 32na-gil, Guro-gu, Seoul). One of the best dakgalbi (spicy stir-fried chicken) experiences you can expect while in Korea! Be sure to order the cheese dakgalbi and drool at the river of cheese running through it! Sillim Chuncheon House is about a 15-minute walk east of Sojunghan, but definitely worth the taxi or drive. Or take the subway to Line 2's Guro Digital Complex Station and walk south of Exit 3 to find it. And within walking distance of E-mart's Guro branch, so you can fit in some grocery shopping if you want. If driving, leave the car parked in the parking lot and walk over to have lunch!

International Lunch/Dinner visit

Not fussy with spicy food or looking for some international cuisine? Try Delhi Curry (7th floor, Hyundai City Outlet Gasas Branch, 9 Digital-ro 10-gil, Geumcheon-gu, Seoul) in the fashion backstreets behind Sojunghan! Its Apgujeong location was one of the first curry restaurants to open in Korea and since built its reputation to expand throughout Seoul.

Shopping visit

Don't forget to pop into some of the area's famous shopping outlets before you head back home! Specifically, you can find loads of shopping discoveries at Lotte Outlet and Mario Outlet, located just down from Sojunghan's building!

And remember, be sure to contact U-MEDI before planning your medical tourism visit to the Gasas Digital Complex area to make sure everything goes according to plan and you make the most out of our experience! <http://u-medi.com>

Make Daejeon your next destination in Korea!

DAEJEONTOURISM ORGANIZATION

In the heart of Korea, there is a particular city that is at the forefront of science and technology. Daejeon, meaning “broad field,” was the first city in Korea to hold the World Expo in 1993, signaling its emergence as a city of science.

The ‘93 Daejeon Expo’, which showcased the latest science and technology at the time, such as electric vehicles, solar cell vehicles, and artificial intelligence robots, attracted 14.5 million visitors. A bio company located in Daedeok Innopolis, a domestic birthplace of science and technology, has developed and exported COVID-19 diagnostic kits around the world. Various forms of research and new technologies are being developed for human health. In addition, Daejeon, home to over 2,000 medical institutions equipped with excellent medical staff and advanced equipment, is an ideal medical tourism destination with premium health checkups for foreign patients and wellness tourism resources.

Premium health checkup

Sun Hospital, which first set out to care for the health of patients and citizens with the utmost sincerity and upholding the mission of “providing the best care, without limits, at all times to everyone who visits us,” started as a 20-bed orthopedic surgery clinic in 1966. It has grown into a general hospital with 13 medical centers, 34 departments, and 200 professional medical staff members. The International Medical Examination Center of Sun Hospital was the first health examination center in the world to be certified by the International Medical Institution Evaluation Committee (JCI), which can only be obtained by passing all 1,200 evaluation items. After being selected as a leading hospital for overseas patient care by the Ministry of Health and Welfare, more than 5,000 foreign patients now visit Sun Hospital every year.

The screening program of the International Examination Center is divided into three main aspects. Basic examination consisting of essential items for early detection of adult diseases and cancer, and 7 major cancers including brain, heart, digestive, lung, and gynecological cancer. In a ward dedicated to 5-star hotel-level examinations, one-on-one coordinators provide the highest level of check-up programs, including overnight check-ups.

Equipped with as many as 219 forms of advanced medical equipment, the Rhythmia Mapping System, a state-of-the-art atrial fibrillation treatment device, was officially introduced for the first time in Korea, allowing for more precise examinations at a rate of 25 times more than the previous system. Through collaborative treatment of specialists in each field, not only can an accurate diagnosis be made by assessing the result of the examination, but if there is any abnormality after the exam, it is possible to receive medical care immediately after consultation. The Cancer Center is located right next to the International Screening Center, providing a ‘one-stop’ service from diagnosis to treatment, as well as cooperation between screening and cancer centers.

Special concierge service for foreigners

As a concierge service, a one-on-one dedicated service is provided by an international medical team (capable of speaking English, Chinese, Russian, Mongolian and more) composed of local coordinators to facilitate the communication and convenience of foreign patients. In addition, we are operating a service that picks up medical tourists who have arrived at the hospital by using a limousine, and reserves hotel rooms near the hospital and a tour guide to Daejeon if you wish to have tour information during your stay.

The Art Space 193, a gallery on the 42nd floor of the 193m high Expo Tower that symbolizes the 1993 Daejeon Expo, features an observatory offering a panoramic view of Daejeon and works by world-famous installation artist Olafur Eliasson. The aquarium on the first basement floor is adorned with media art that tells the story of Poseidon, the god of the sea according to Greek mythology. With every step, soft and moist ocher embraces your feet, and the soles of your feet can sense some stimulation, making you feel like you are receiving a foot massage. The trees that stretch high overhead release phytoncides, and the sound of leaves rustling whenever the wind blows, along with the sound of the chirping of birds, seems to help wash away the fatigue and stress of the city.

Daejeon Shinsegae Art & Science

Daejeon Shinsegae Art & Science, a cultural complex, is located on the site where the 1993 Daejeon Expo was held. Unlike existing department stores, where shopping is the main focus, this is a complex where you can experience art, culture and science altogether. On weekdays and weekends, citizens and tourists visit continuously.

Like Daejeon, the city of science, Daejeon Shinsegae Art & Science features a science center, NEXPERIUM, where you can experience various aspects of science. It is a space developed and produced by researchers at KAIST, which fosters scientific talents in Korea, and consists of the themes of future science fields, such as robots, bio, and space. In the Science Museum, you can experience how robots are actually made, and you can also view exhibits about robots that will dramatically change human life, artificial intelligence technology that is based on them, and artificial satellites for observing extraterrestrial planets and exploring space. It is a space to stimulate interest in science among children. One way of achieving this is from wearing a device provided at the entrance. While viewing the exhibit, an artificial intelligence algorithm automatically

A little distance from the city center is a serene and calm natural space. Gyejoksan Mountain, which was named as such because the shape of the mountain is “shaped similar to a chicken’s foot,” is located in Daejeon. When you get to the foot of the mountain, you can easily see people walking barefoot on the road and washing away the ocher soil from their feet at a foot wash. It may feel awkward as there are not many

Relaxation for mind and body

Daecheongho Lake, where you can enjoy the beautiful changes of the four seasons, is the third-largest lake in Korea. You can find 21 trekking courses around the lake, where you can walk while taking in the pleasant views from both sides. While doing so, you can enjoy viewing historical relics and partaking in various experiences, food, and seasonal festivals, allowing you to experience the healing of both mind and body while being with nature. Doume Village located next to Daecheong Lake, is a representative rural experience village that boasts beautiful scenery, including cherry blossoms forming a tunnel every April. You can experience the production process of wild plant enzymes made from 30 different ingredients, the harvesting of agricultural products, making of local food, and experiencing traditional culture. Haneulgang Atelier, run by a potter in Doume Village, is a place of healing where you can ease your mind while making pottery. You can experience the taste and style of Korea while drinking traditional tea and strolling around the cutely decorated village.
